ok thanks.

DaMonica is okay - she is having surgery and then is required to rest for three weeks afterwards so she is completely out of touch this week, but starting next week she is reachable by cell but she also gave me alternate contact info.

Thanks for the update, Michele. I hope Damonica is okay.

Sorry for the continued delay in my comments. I am most of the way through the draft and will have detailed comments on the permit to you by this afternoon.

Subject: C6 Mini injectivity test

Just an update, I had a call with DaMonica last Thursday (July 8) to go over the mini injectivity test. I requested that they provide us with a write up on their plan to include their justification and procedure. I noted that the emphasis of the scientific articles they had submitted were focused on what could be gained for the purpose of hydraulic fracturing; and the Region 5 write up emphasized the use of mini frac testing for planning well stimulations - neither of which was the purpose of the C6 test, as I understood it. I suggested that they provide the write up as a supplement or revision to the description of the testing that was included in the original UIC application so it could easily be added to the administrative record.

They expect to submit something this week - DaMonica will be out for four weeks on medical leave beginning July 12.
